

The Corsetti Family

“August 24, 1992 was a date many South Floridians will never forget. Hurricane Andrew devastated South Dade and Homestead. When the storm first formed, my husband and I knew it would be trouble. We were newlyweds, having married just 7 months before.

We purchased our first new pre construction GL home in Coconut Key in 1993. We were so excited watching it get built! We moved into our new home in the spring of 1994. We lived in that first house only 6 months and watched the prices of our new homes greatly appreciate.

SilverLakes was definitely in demand as most of our neighbors had wanted to flee Miami Dade after the storm. We knew the building codes were going to be much stricter post Hurricane Andrew. We sold our first GL home and moved into our Malibu Pointe home in January of 1995. It was a model home and we only had to pick the tile and move in. We literally moved across the street! The day we closed we threw a 75th surprise birthday party in our empty new home for my mother in law. It was perfect with rental tables and chairs. Easy cleanup.

We’ve been here ever since and enjoyed the neighborhood. We are blessed with excellent schools and our daughter enjoyed having so many friends in the neighborhood. We called them the Malibu Crew!

In closing, we are still here and technically original owners 2x’s in SilverLakes!”
